We, the editors of the 1979 yearbook, wish to express our sincere gratitude to our friend and advisor,

Mr. Harry Lengas,

for his assistance, leadership, and guidance. Without his help our yearbook would never have been accomplished.

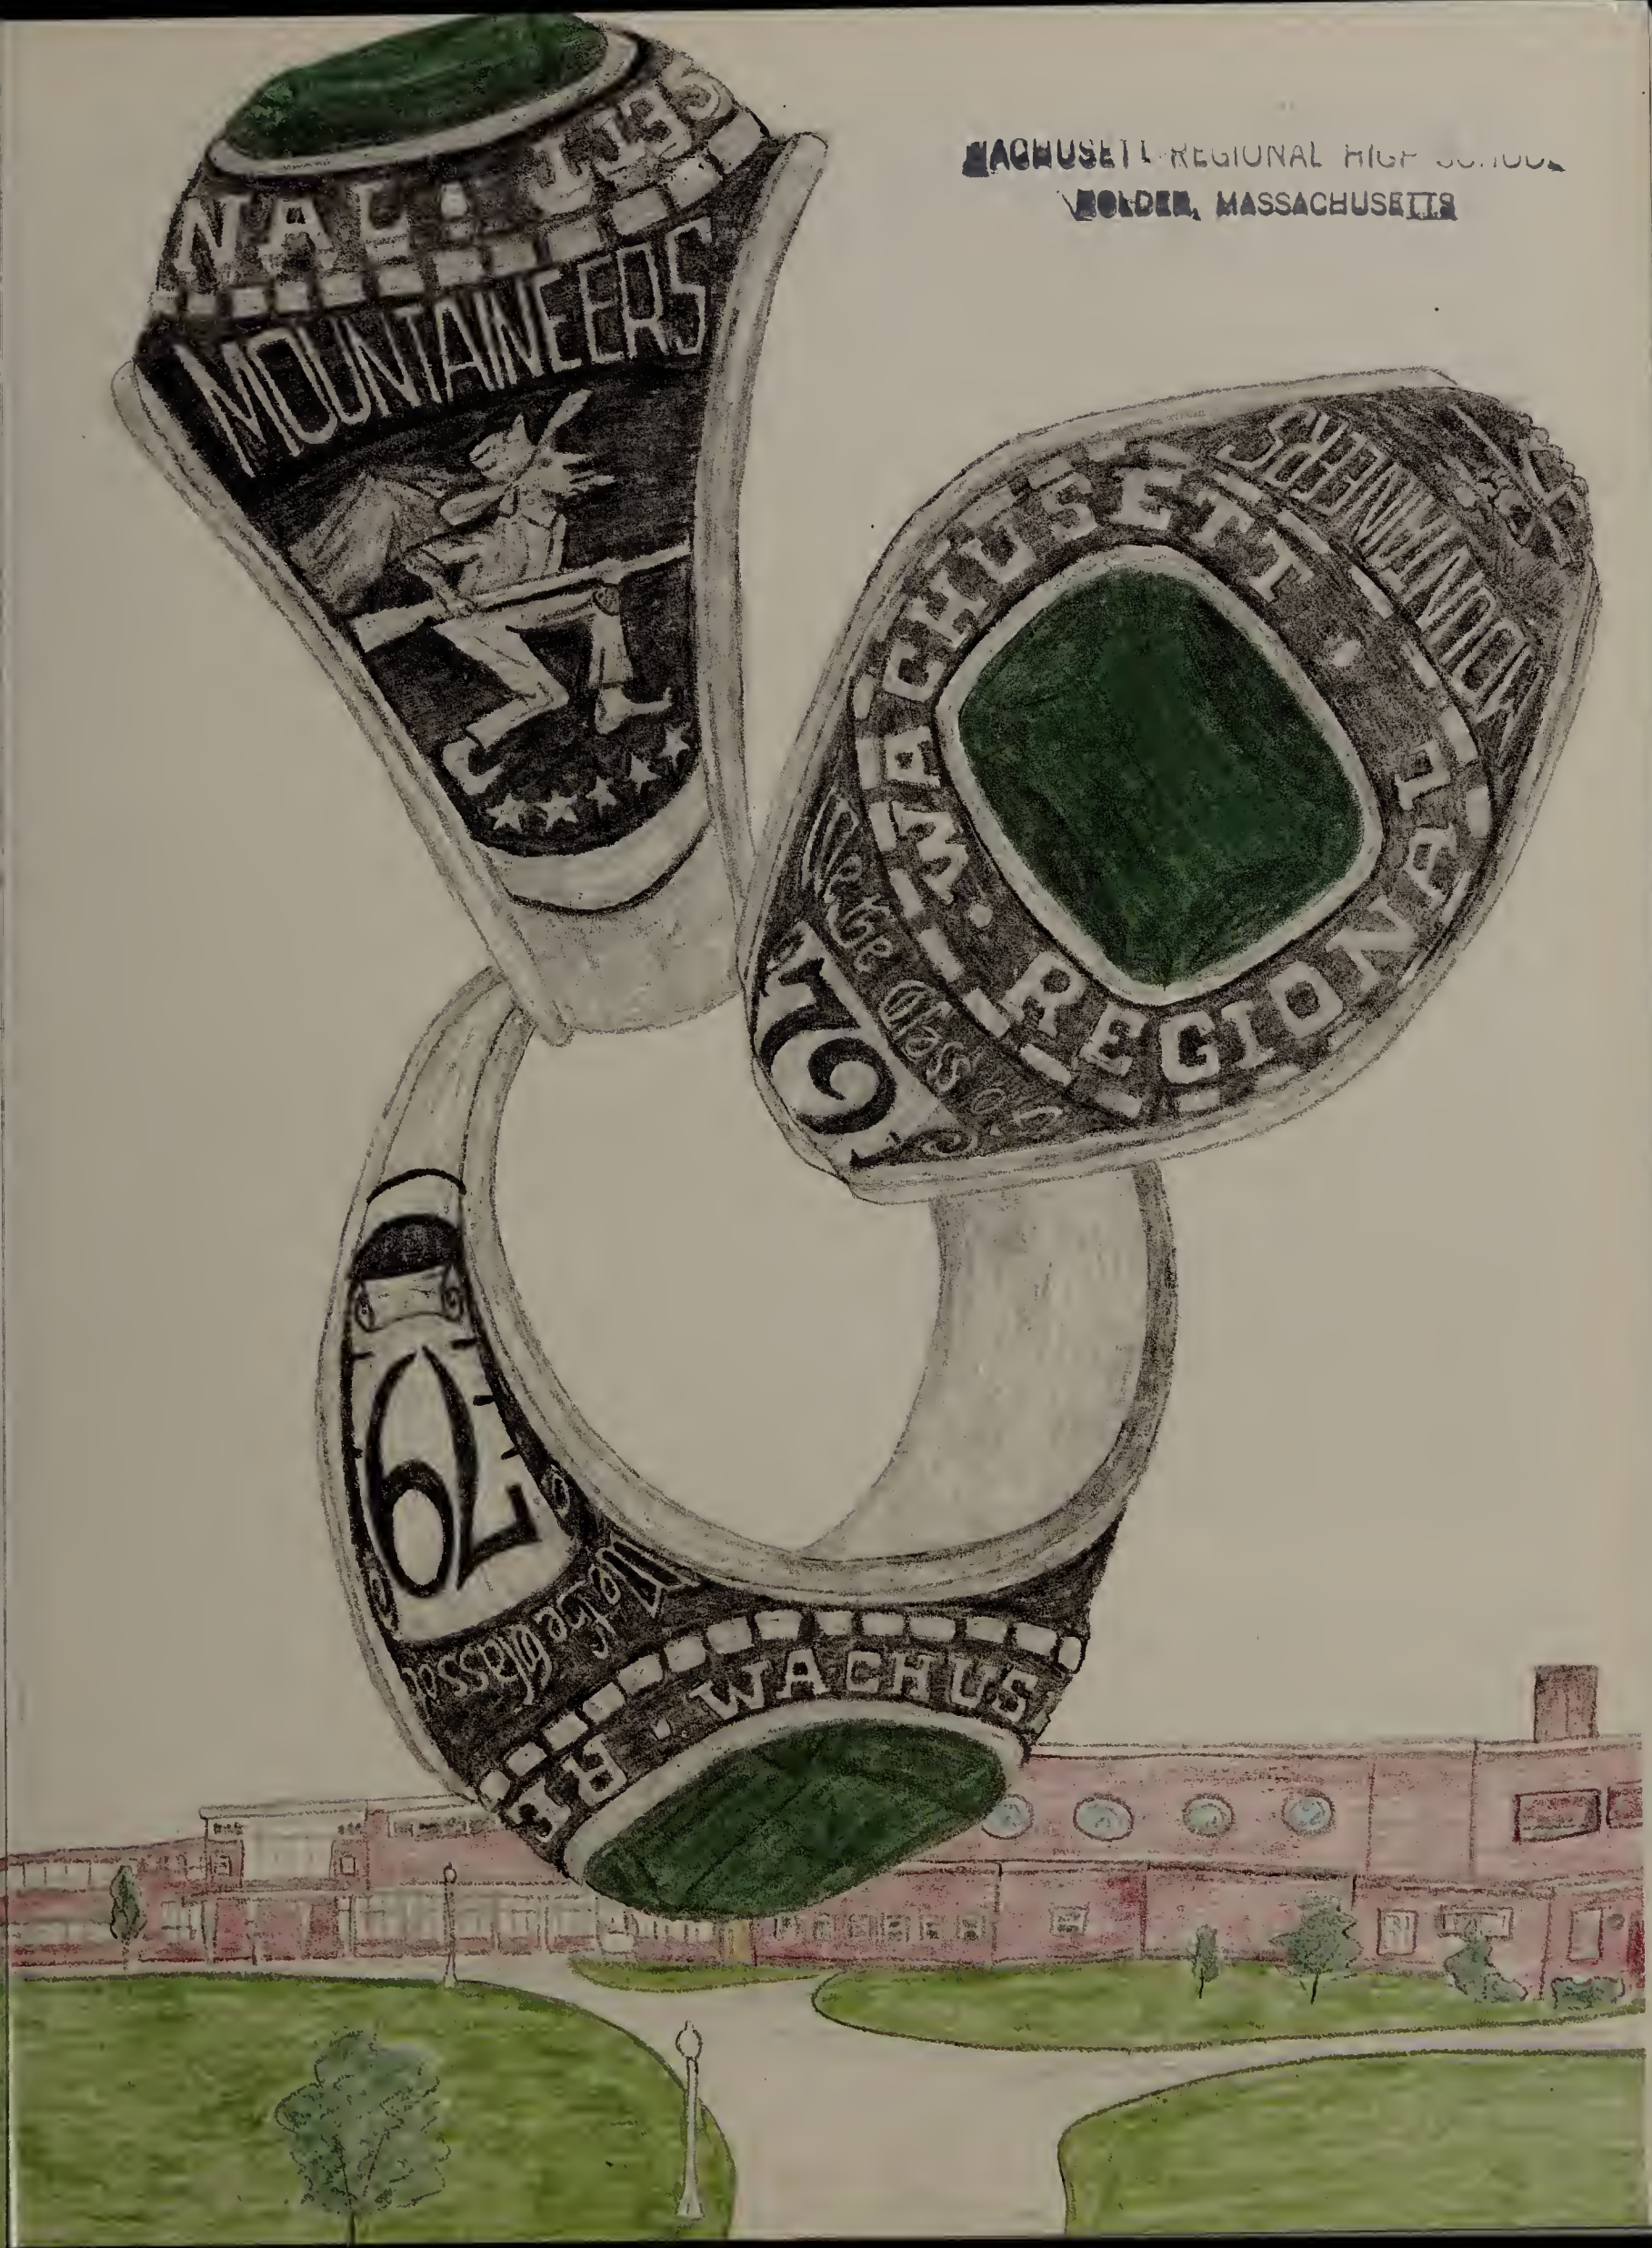
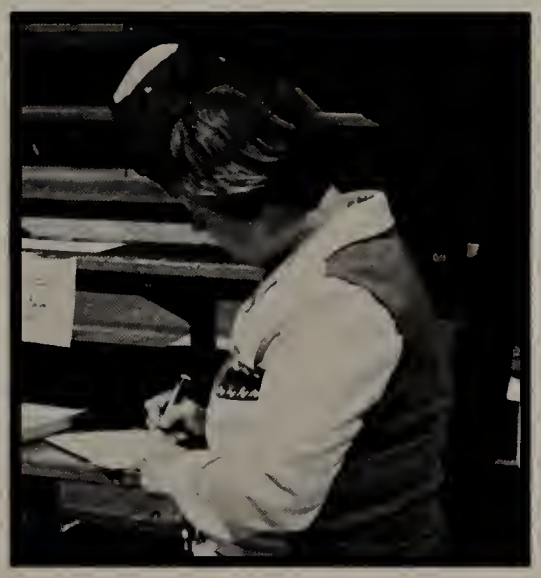
MASSACHUSETTS REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL
HOLDEN, MASSACHUSETTS



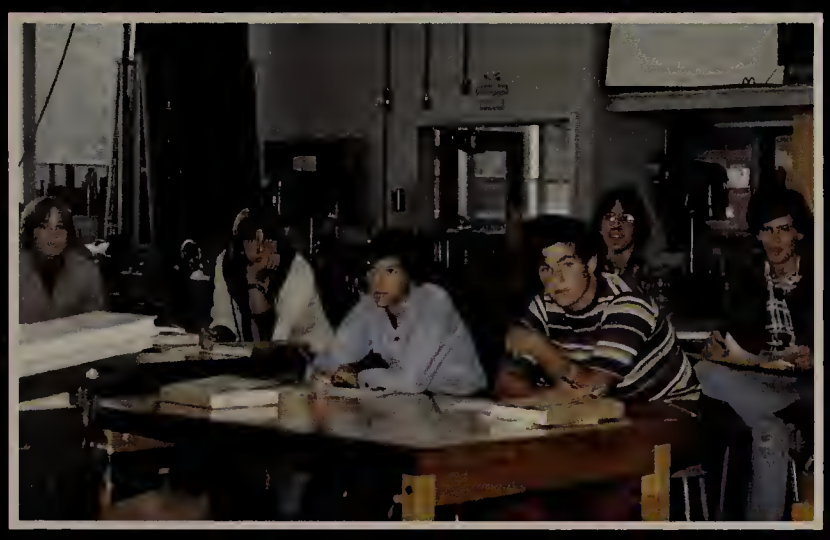
We, the class of 1979, the twenty-fifth graduating class of Wachusett Regional High School, have chosen to dedicate our yearbook to Miss Catherine Maynard. We will always remember her for her four years of steadfast loyalty and enthusiasm.

This written dedication could never do her justice. She is a caring friend as well as a hard working advisor, and we are grateful for the help she has given us.

Thank you Miss Maynard



Don't look back, a new day is breaking.



It's been so long since I felt this way.

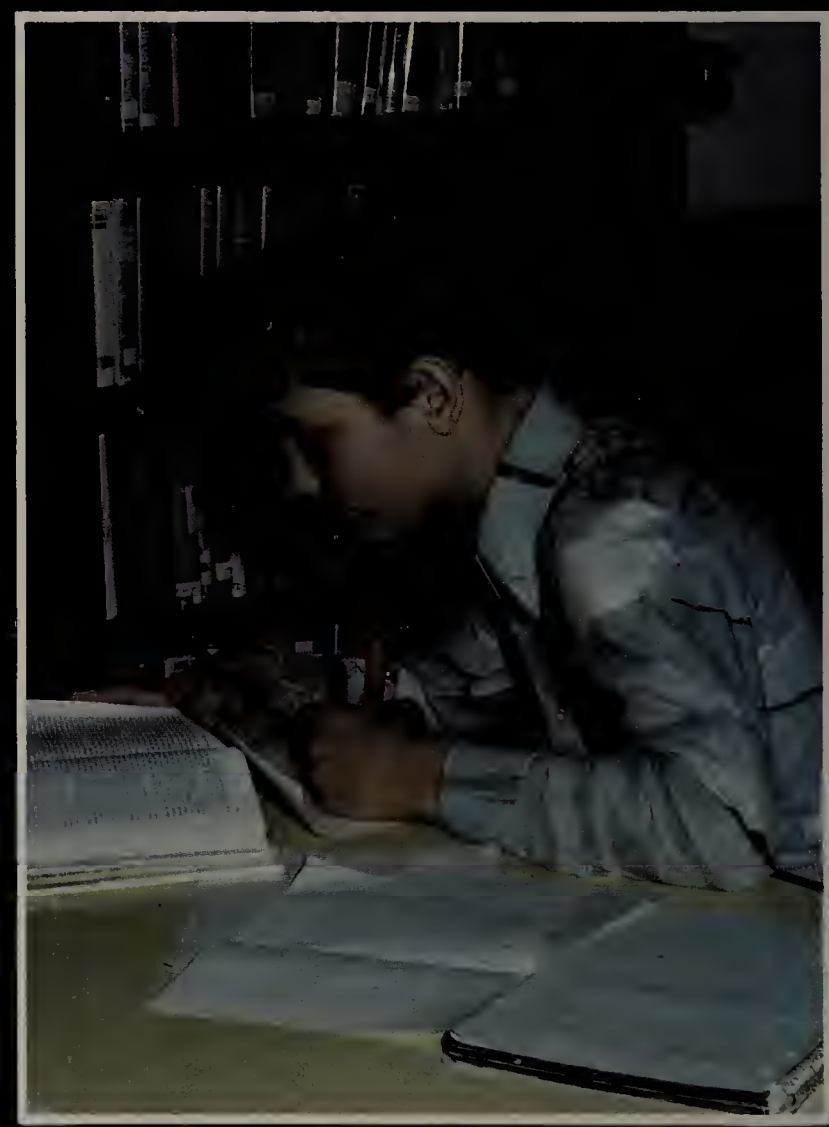
I don't mind where I get taken;

The road is calling, today is the day.

I can see it took so long just to realize;

I'm much too strong now to compromise.

Now I see what I am is holding me down . . .

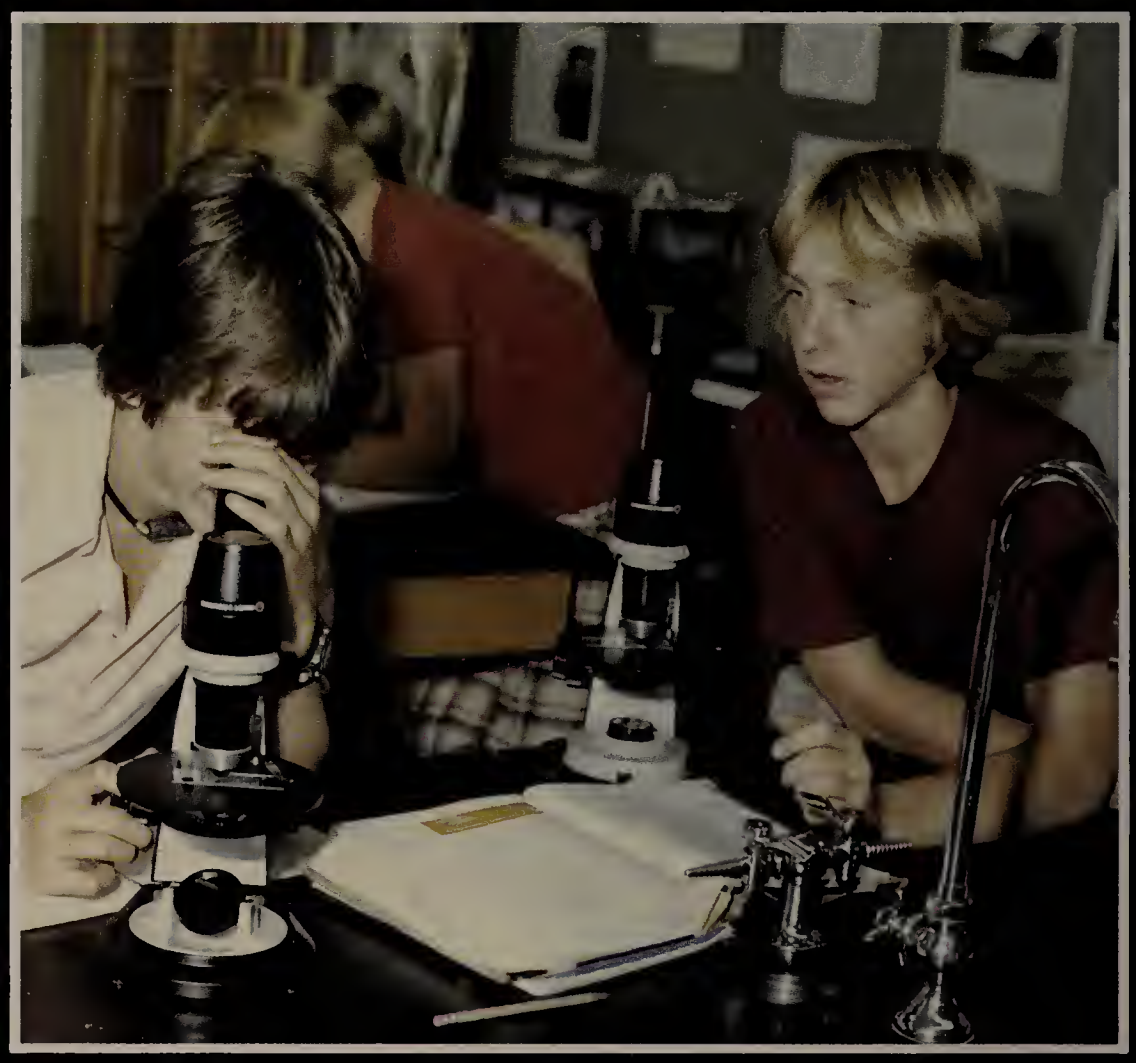


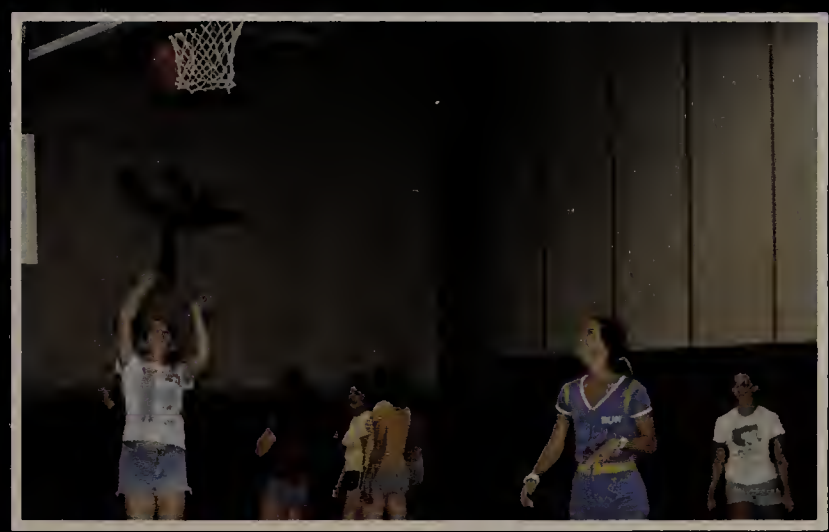
I'll turn it around.

I finally see the dawn arriving —

I see beyond the road I'm driving —
Far away and left behind.

It's a new horizon, and I'm awakening now,
I see myself in a brand new way.





The sun is shining, the clouds are breaking;

Cause I can't lose now, there's no game to play.

I can tell there's no more time left to criticize,

I've seen what I couldn't recognize.

Everything in my life was leading me on . . .

But I can be strong.

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE TO THE CLASS OF 1979

We all look back on the things you have learned and/or the things we have tried to teach over the last few years. Many of us see gaps. There are gaps in areas where adults and employees feel you should be knowledgeable (like checkbooks, loans, parenting) but you, having had no immediate need for the information, couldn't have cared less.

I'm sure that schools will return in the near future to concentrating more on what the society feels our younger citizens need in the future and concentrating less on what the young people feel that they need or want now. But in the meantime, your education, broadly speaking, may have significant gaps. You have an immediate reason to be a continuing learner in practical, wordly concerns. The current statistics on overextended credit, on divorce, and on wife and child beating show this clearly. I can only wish for you that as you increase in maturity, you respect what you don't know, that you take steps to learn before you leap. Your basic studies here will provide a solid foundation, but you need to continue to build. You stand a far better chance of being in control, of your career, of your finances, of your emotions, and, if it applies, of your marriage and your children — if you plan and build thoughtfully.

God love you.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Dear Members of the Class of 1979,

A yearbook is a window to the past — a kaleidoscope of personalities and events and activities. It is, of course, not a complete record of your high school years, but if done well, is an entree to a multitude of memories and remembered friendships. You are a member of the class that closes out the first twenty-five years in the history of your high school. Yours is a special class in many ways! Your record of achievement as a class stands up well with the classes that went before and will be a challenge to those who follow.

As with all groups you also are made up of individual achievements and disappointments. My hope for each of you individually is that you will forge for yourselves a life rich in happiness and personal satisfaction. I hope that the years spent at Wachusett will contribute to your future in many positive ways and that, as the years pass, your memories of these years will gain in luster and meaning.

A yearbook allows us to stand still and look both backwards and forwards! It is my sincere wish that, in your backwards glance, you will remember those who stood beside you — your parents, your teachers, your friends — and that, as you look forward to the future, you will have the kind of memories of the past that will make your future endeavors even more meaningful and productive.

My best to all of you in whatever you undertake. Keep in touch.

Sincerely,

Harold M. Lane Jr.

25 Years of Wachusett Regional High School

In the beginning
they had an idea,

and they saw that it was good.

In preparation for the flood,

1954 they readied the ship.

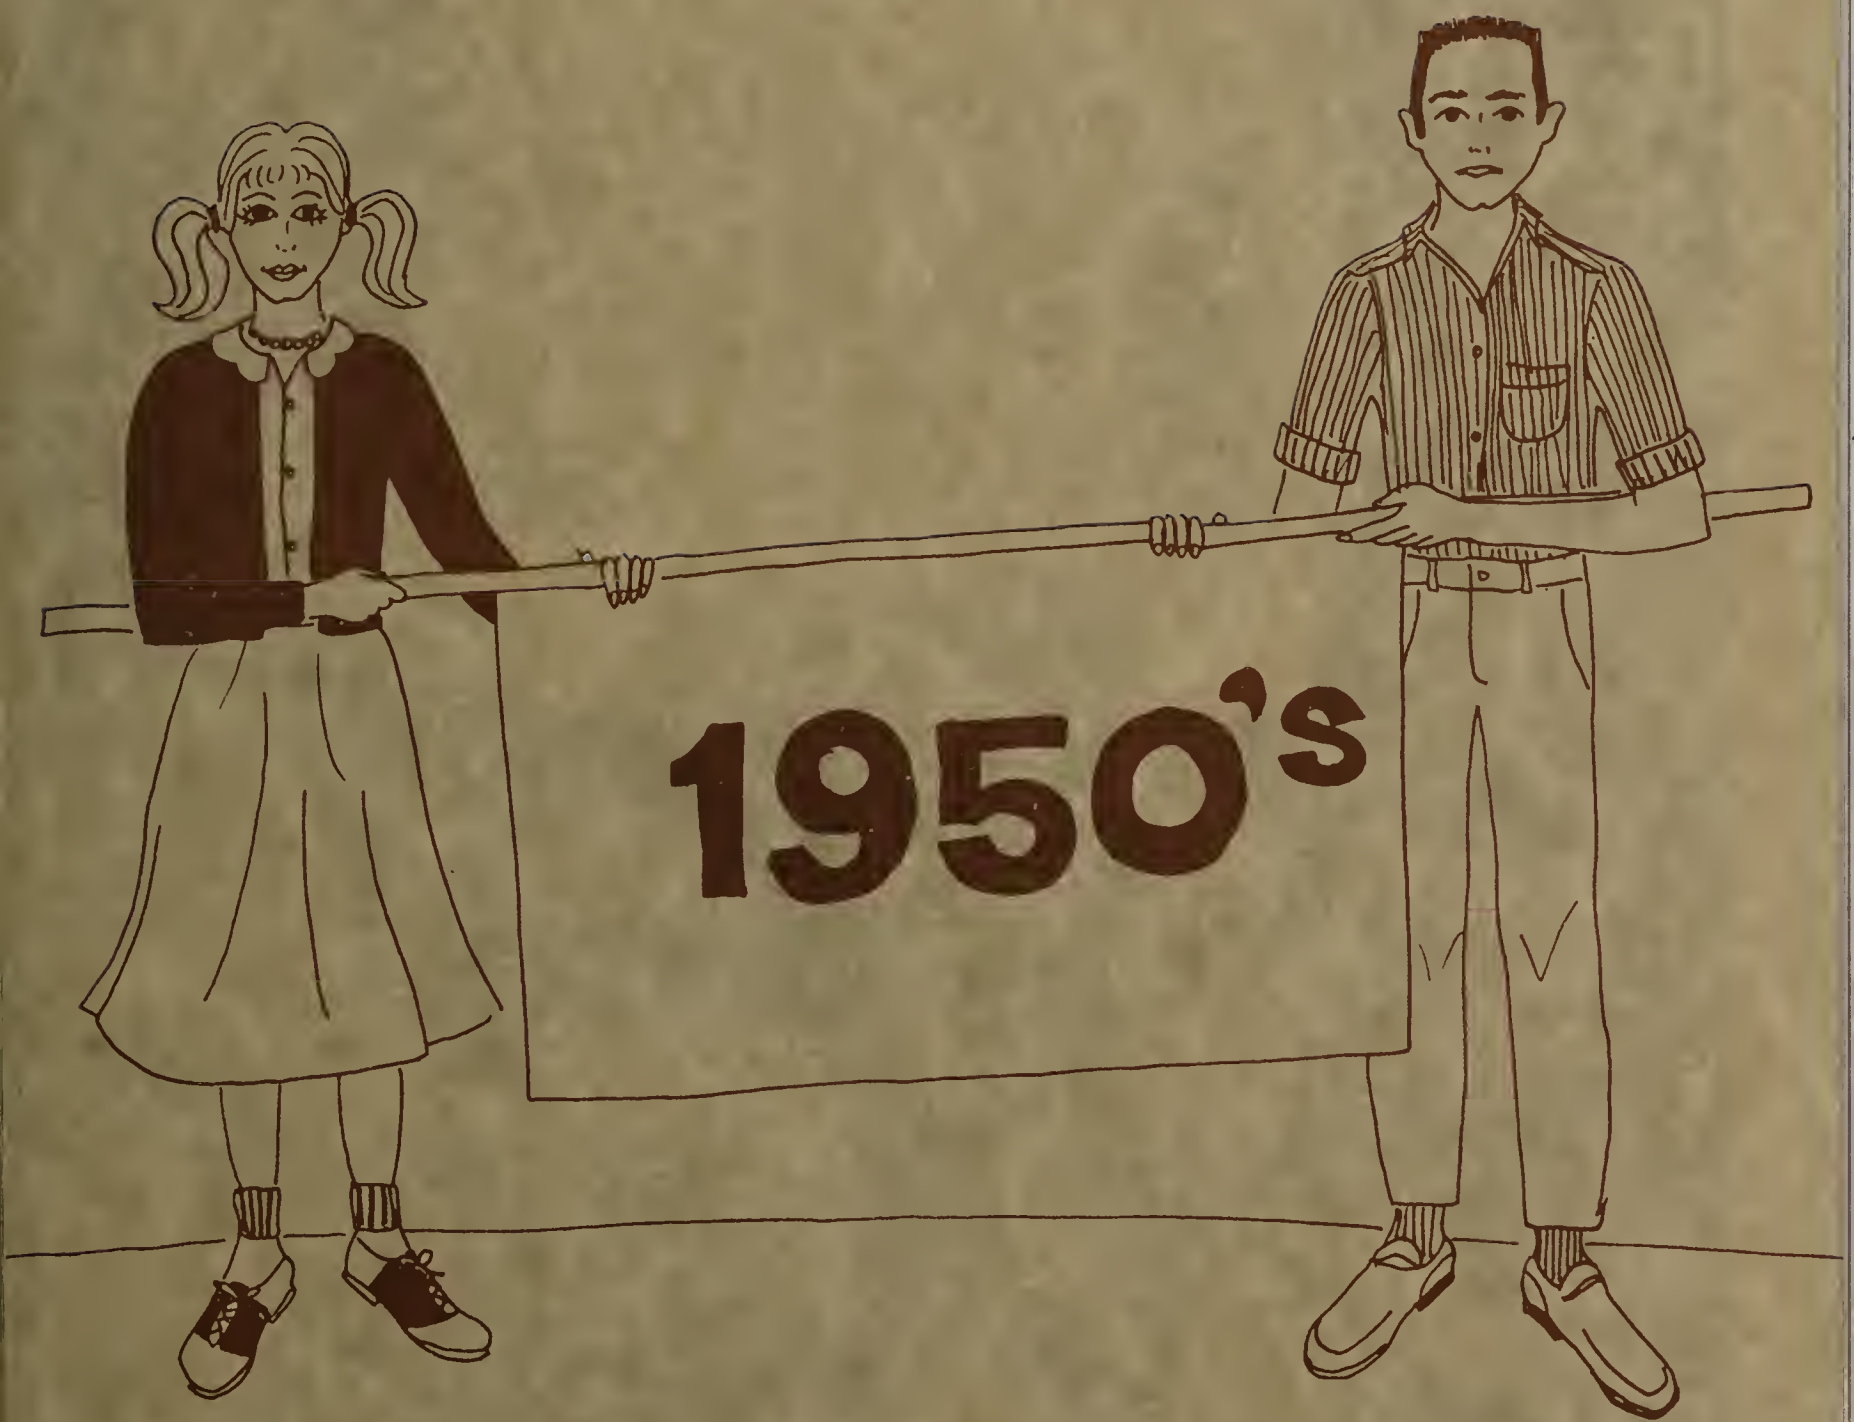
And the deluge came ~

one of every kind.



1950's

Styles in the 50's were "cool." Wachusett saw its share of saddle shoes and loafers. Monogram and lettermen's sweaters abounded as did bobby sox and calf length skirts. For the boys leather jackets, rolled up blue jeans, and slicked back hair were in. Girls curled their hair and wore their sweaters buttoned down the back. Strands of pearls and red lipstick finished the picture.

Guys and gals could be seen together after school, and at sock hops in the evening. They did every dance from the bunny hop to the jitterbug. Everyone listened to that crazy new sensation, ROCK AND ROLL.

CHANGES . . .

The school opened! Brand new, with thirty-eight classrooms, it became home to the students from the five towns that made up the region.

PEOPLE

Administration changed, but the spirit within the school did not. Students rallied together to make Wachusett not only a place for education, but also a place for sports, dances, and other social activities.

urse, I don't feel very well

1960'S

The pace started picking up in the 60's. Everybody was up and at 'em. People grooved around in loafers and other flat shoes. Rockets took off for the moon, and so did the length of skirts. As the 60's progressed the skirts got shorter and shorter, and the ultimate mini-skirt appeared — one that was barely there. When the Beatles came on the scene, everyone mimicked them. Psychedelic colors and bell-bottoms were the things to wear. Boys began to grow their hair past their ears while girls had theirs cut really short.

Hippies were born and everyone wanted to hang loose. Jeans, peace symbols, headbands, and Woodstock completed the scene.

CHANGES

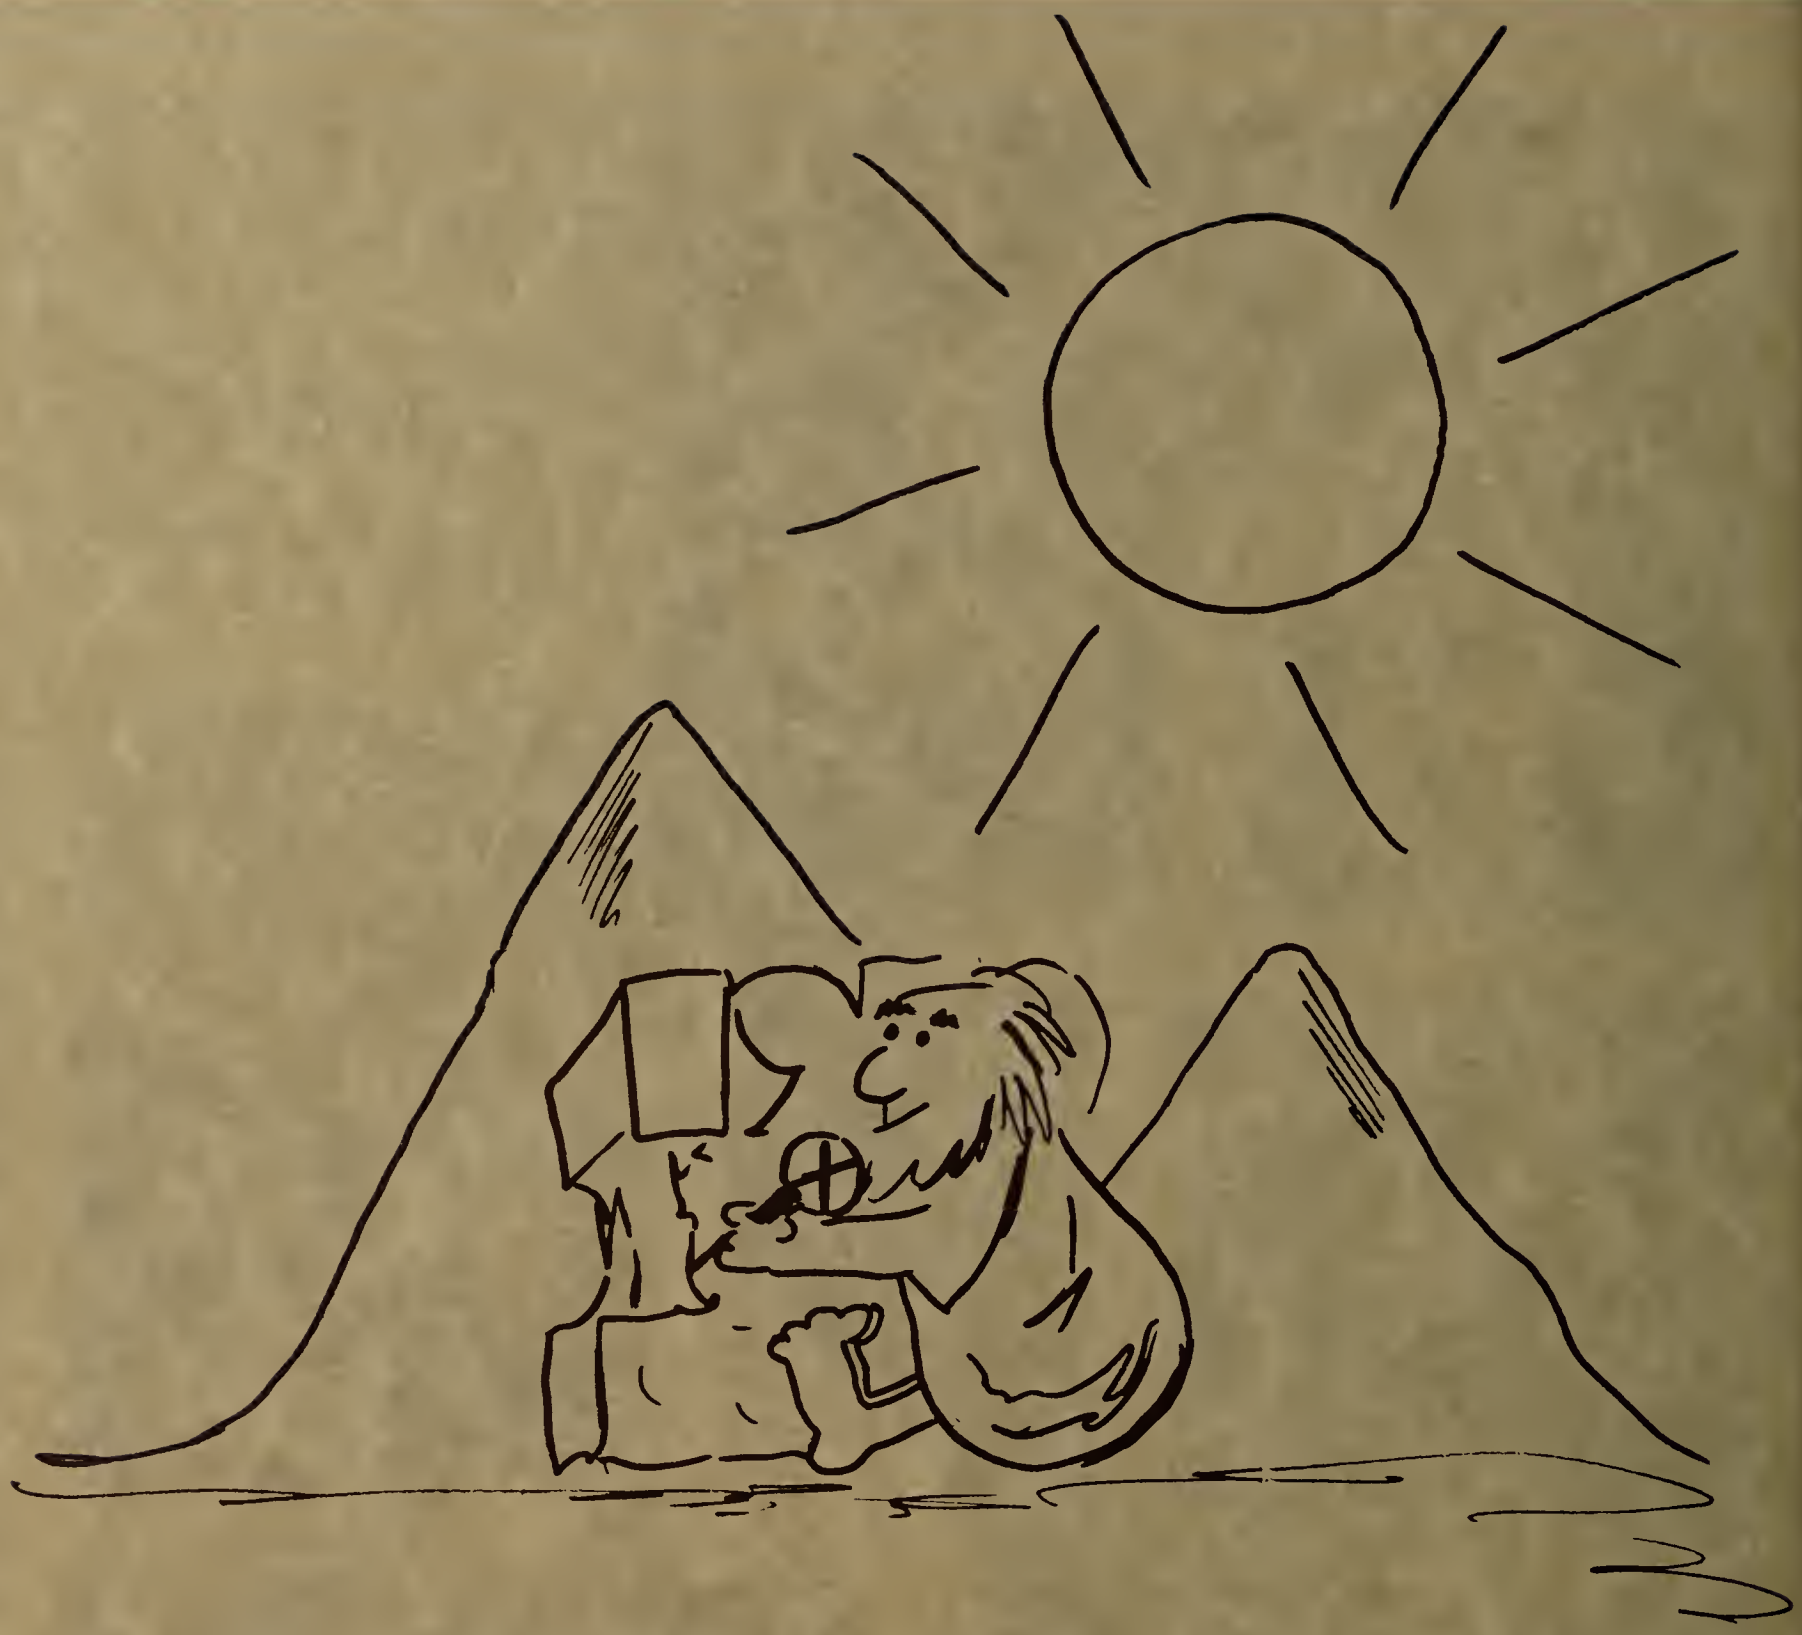
Wachusett went into the 60's full speed ahead. It had survived the 50's and was now a well established school. In the words of poet Bob Dylan, the times they were a changin', and Wachusett changed along with them.

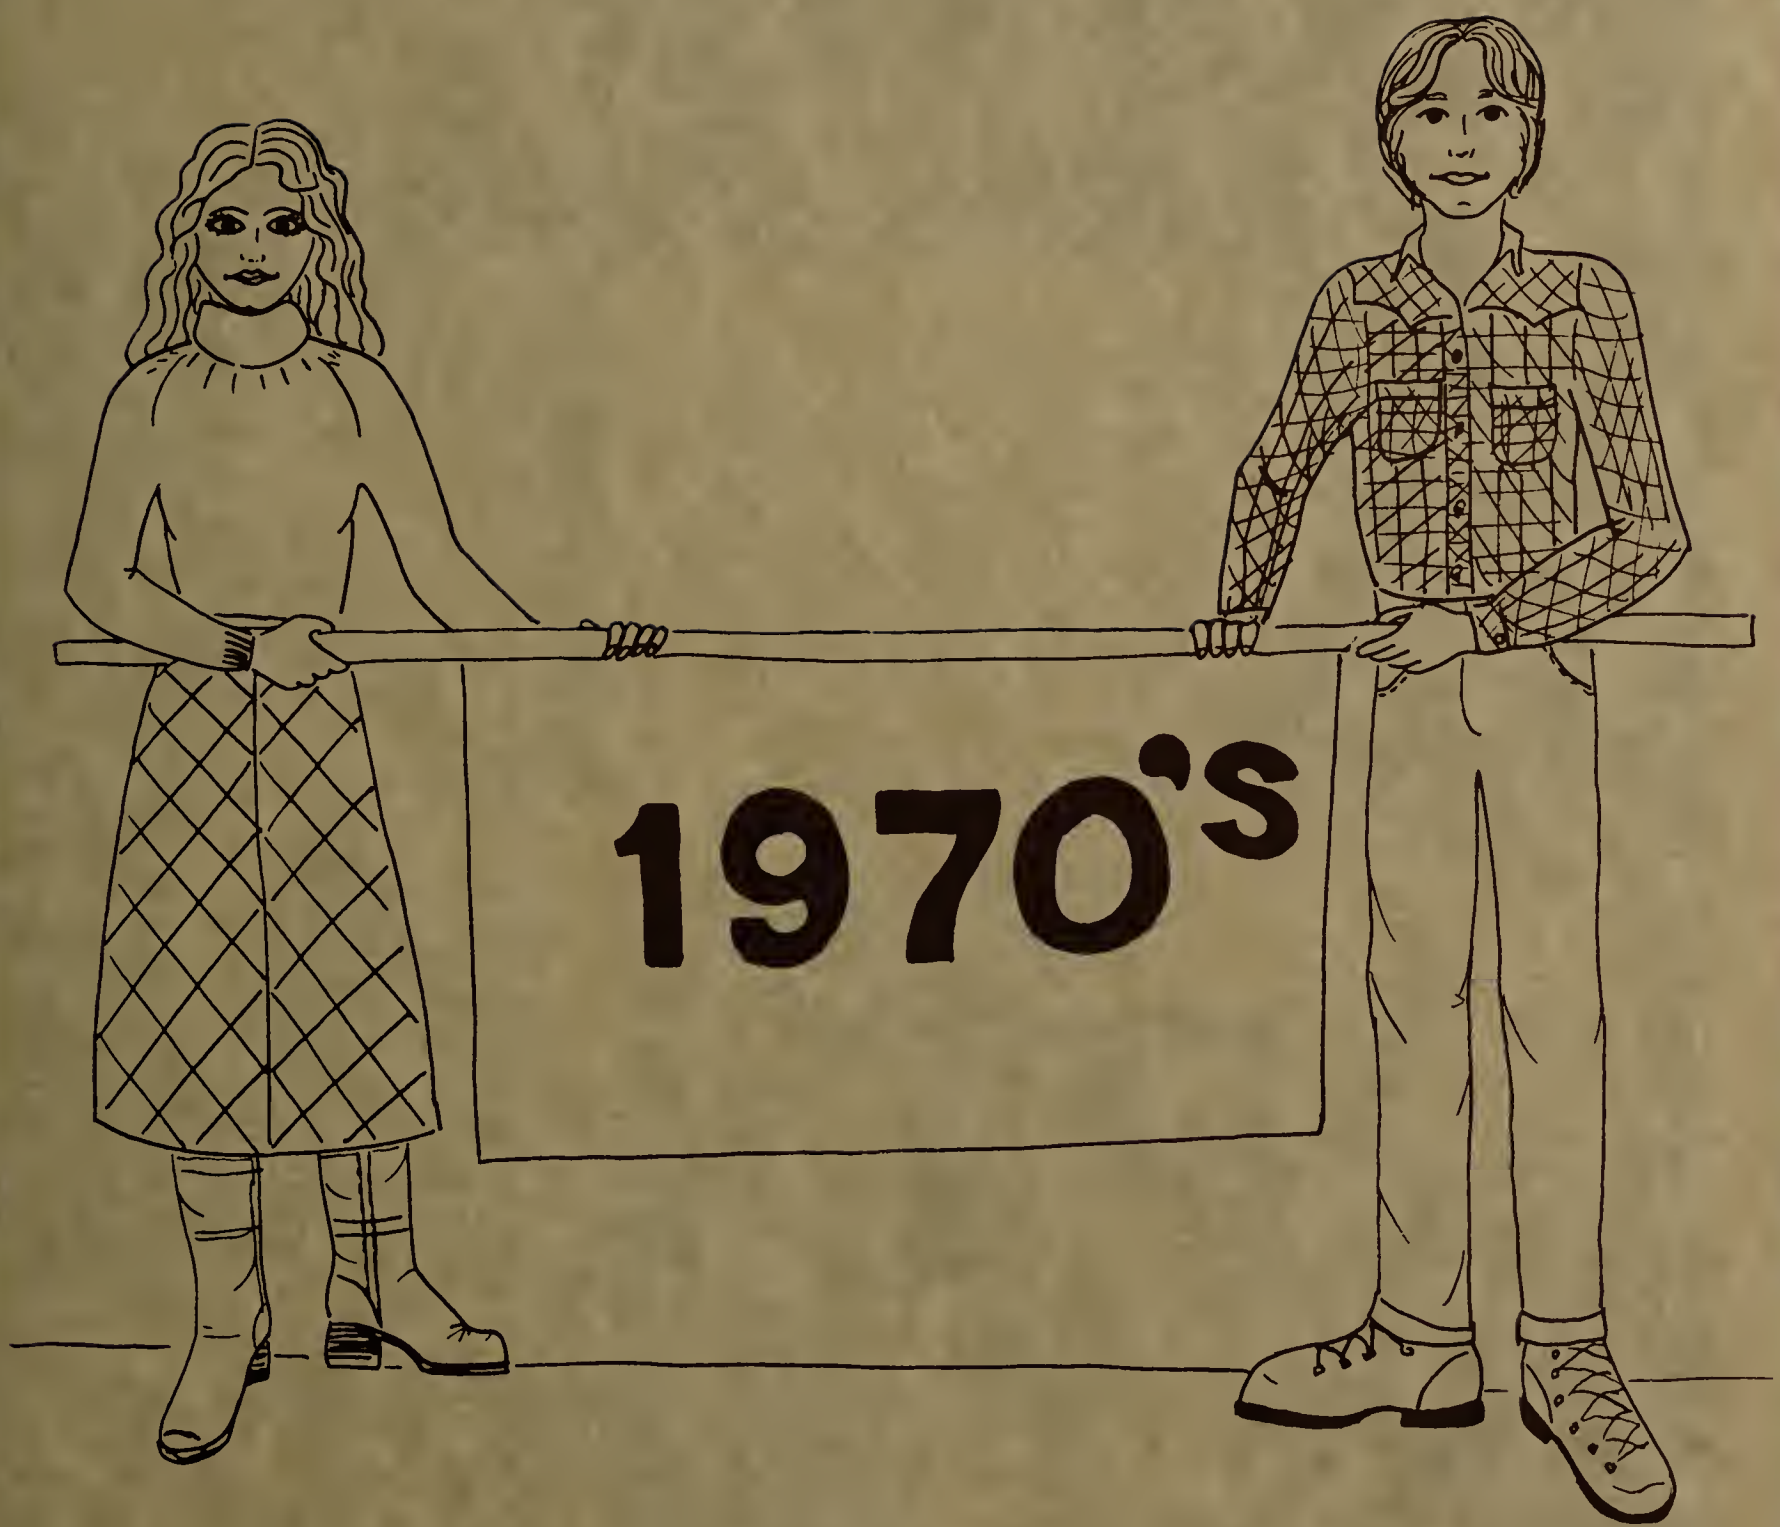
"Nature's mighty law

is change"

PEOPLE

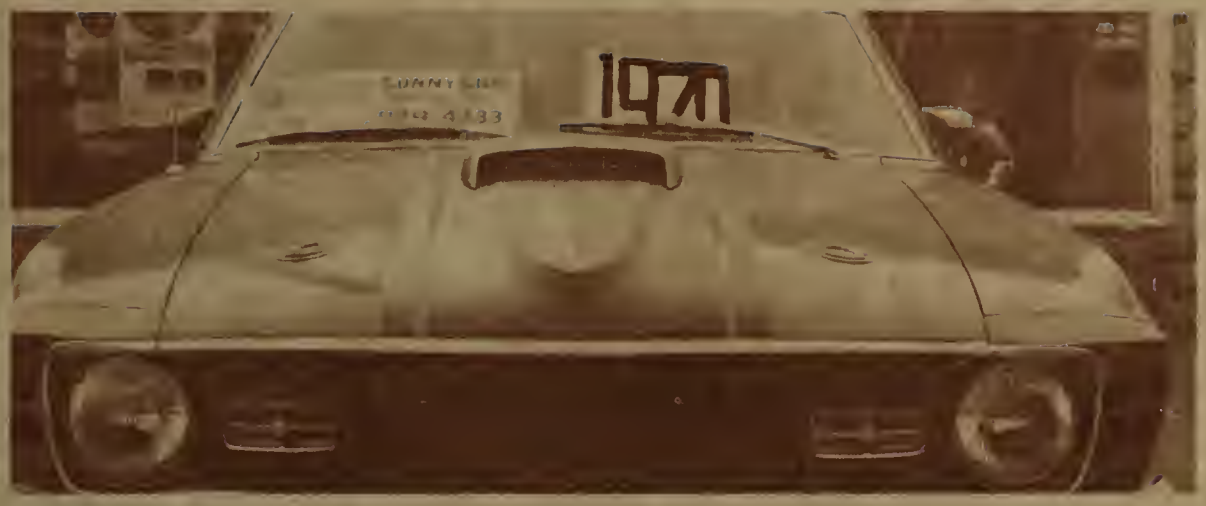
School spirit flourished, the Mountaineers were hip.





1970'S

The 70's were years of change. Styles came and went quickly — from miniskirts to knee length and midi's. Psychedelic colors gave way to soft earth tones and the tailored look became loose and baggy, and/or a combination of both. Flat shoes gave way to platform shoes and tall skinny heels. Boots walked into the scene, along with jeans and more jeans. Everyone grew their hair long, then some got it cut short . . . and shorter. Some liked it straight, others curly. Perms came back into being, and many afros and crimped heads of hair were seen bobbing around.



. . . excellent . . . back to nature . . . crankin' tunes . . . discomania . . . Roots . . . skateboarding . . . Watergate . . . severe . . . Skynyrd . . . concerts . . . wicked good . . . awesome . . .

CHANGES . . .

Ten minute break came and went. The dress code was relaxed. Double lunch periods went. Lunches, however, stayed the same . . .

PEOPLE

Hal Lane, a former student, is now the principal. Other teachers, administrators, and students have come and gone, and Wachusett has improved with age.

Seasons of Solitude

Like a Salmon Strugglin' up a northwest Stream,
The man went to the woods in Search of his dream, Isolated in wilderness is where he needed to be,
'Cause life in Nature is peaceful and oh So free.

The beauty in mind is what he had to find,
So into the woods he traveled,
And before his eyes his life unraveled,

Like a poet who stays up all night,
Searchin' only for good words to write,
The lonely man searched for his one love
And there by the Spruce trees, she rested, under and above
So here he laid to rest his weary Soul,
After a life with Society took it's toll.

All of his life he wanted only peace.
Hopin' that all violence would oneday Cease.
So let his wisdom be forever remembered.

Such beauty as this lonely mountain grave
Society must leave alone and help to Save,
So reach out all you good people and lend a helpin' hand,
to preserve all this beautiful land,
just imagine and please try to understand,
All the peace and harmony of life durin' Seasons of Solitude.

Thoughts on Graduation

Another year has now gone by
But somehow things have changed.
Our lives which were once all so neat
Are now so unarranged.

We must decide on where to go, to work or to school.
It's not an easy choice to make.
Our hearts and minds must rule.

Our friends all go their different ways.
We feel as though we're lost.
But some, we know, we'll see again
No matter what the cost.

To keep in touch with all we've met
Will surely never be.
So for the time that we are here
A friend, we'll try to be.

The ceremony finally comes.
We're full of laughs and tears.
The time we spent together
Will be cherished through the years.

Kathy Nordquist

Time Spent

The winds of time have crept into
The souls of you and I.
Some chill a summer's morning,
Some warm a wintry night.
The days we've spent enjoying life
Are memories kept inside.
We shall not pass as strangers
In tomorrow's world of rhyme.

Diane Marier

Rusty. sweating palm pressed against crisp white paper,
leave memories
like gray ashened soot blown haphazardly
Across the hearth.
Each, in its own pattern of creased lines
extending to eternity
each, entwining in itself like raindrops skidding down the window pane.

Kathleen Crowley

WKQY STATIC

It's late at night
And the only thing I have to prove there's a world out there somewhere is my old radio.
I like listening to each different song.
Some slap-happy disc jockey is blowing effervescent bubbles over the air-waves.
His voice never breaks its non-stop, hurry-up,
pitta-pat.
I wonder how he does it on his salary . . .

When it's real late,
I get tired of Jerry and the Jerks death-defying, Electric-frying sound.
Somebody's crying through their blue notes and I just don't give a damn.
Give me real music like that little boy played;
Banging sticks on an old trash barrel in the rain . . .

BOB HENDRICKSON.

Sunrise to Sunset

"I finally see the dawn arrivin'
I see beyond the road I'm drivin' "
We've been sealed and secluded
From the horizons of life.
In the darkness of our youth.
In the laws of conformity —
But why?
We are the leaders now —
And they have to stop Forcing us to believe
That we must follow them.
We are the sunrise, Rushing gloriously from the depth of the night.
In the victorious colors,
Brilliant and fresh.
In our pinks, melons, and yellows,
As our beams illuminate the earth
To guide the lives of the living.
But they —
They are the sunset
Melting and fading away,
Into the cloudy blue-gray mystery.
Deep and mellowed
In their reds, oranges, and golds.
As their dying rays
Drip into the sea
And are washed away.

Nancy Champlin

Where have you gone,
O wise men of the west.
We saved a few,
And murdered the rest,

We try to forget
The things that we did
But we can't say were sorry,
Because all of them are dead.

The memory lingers on Their beauty and their style
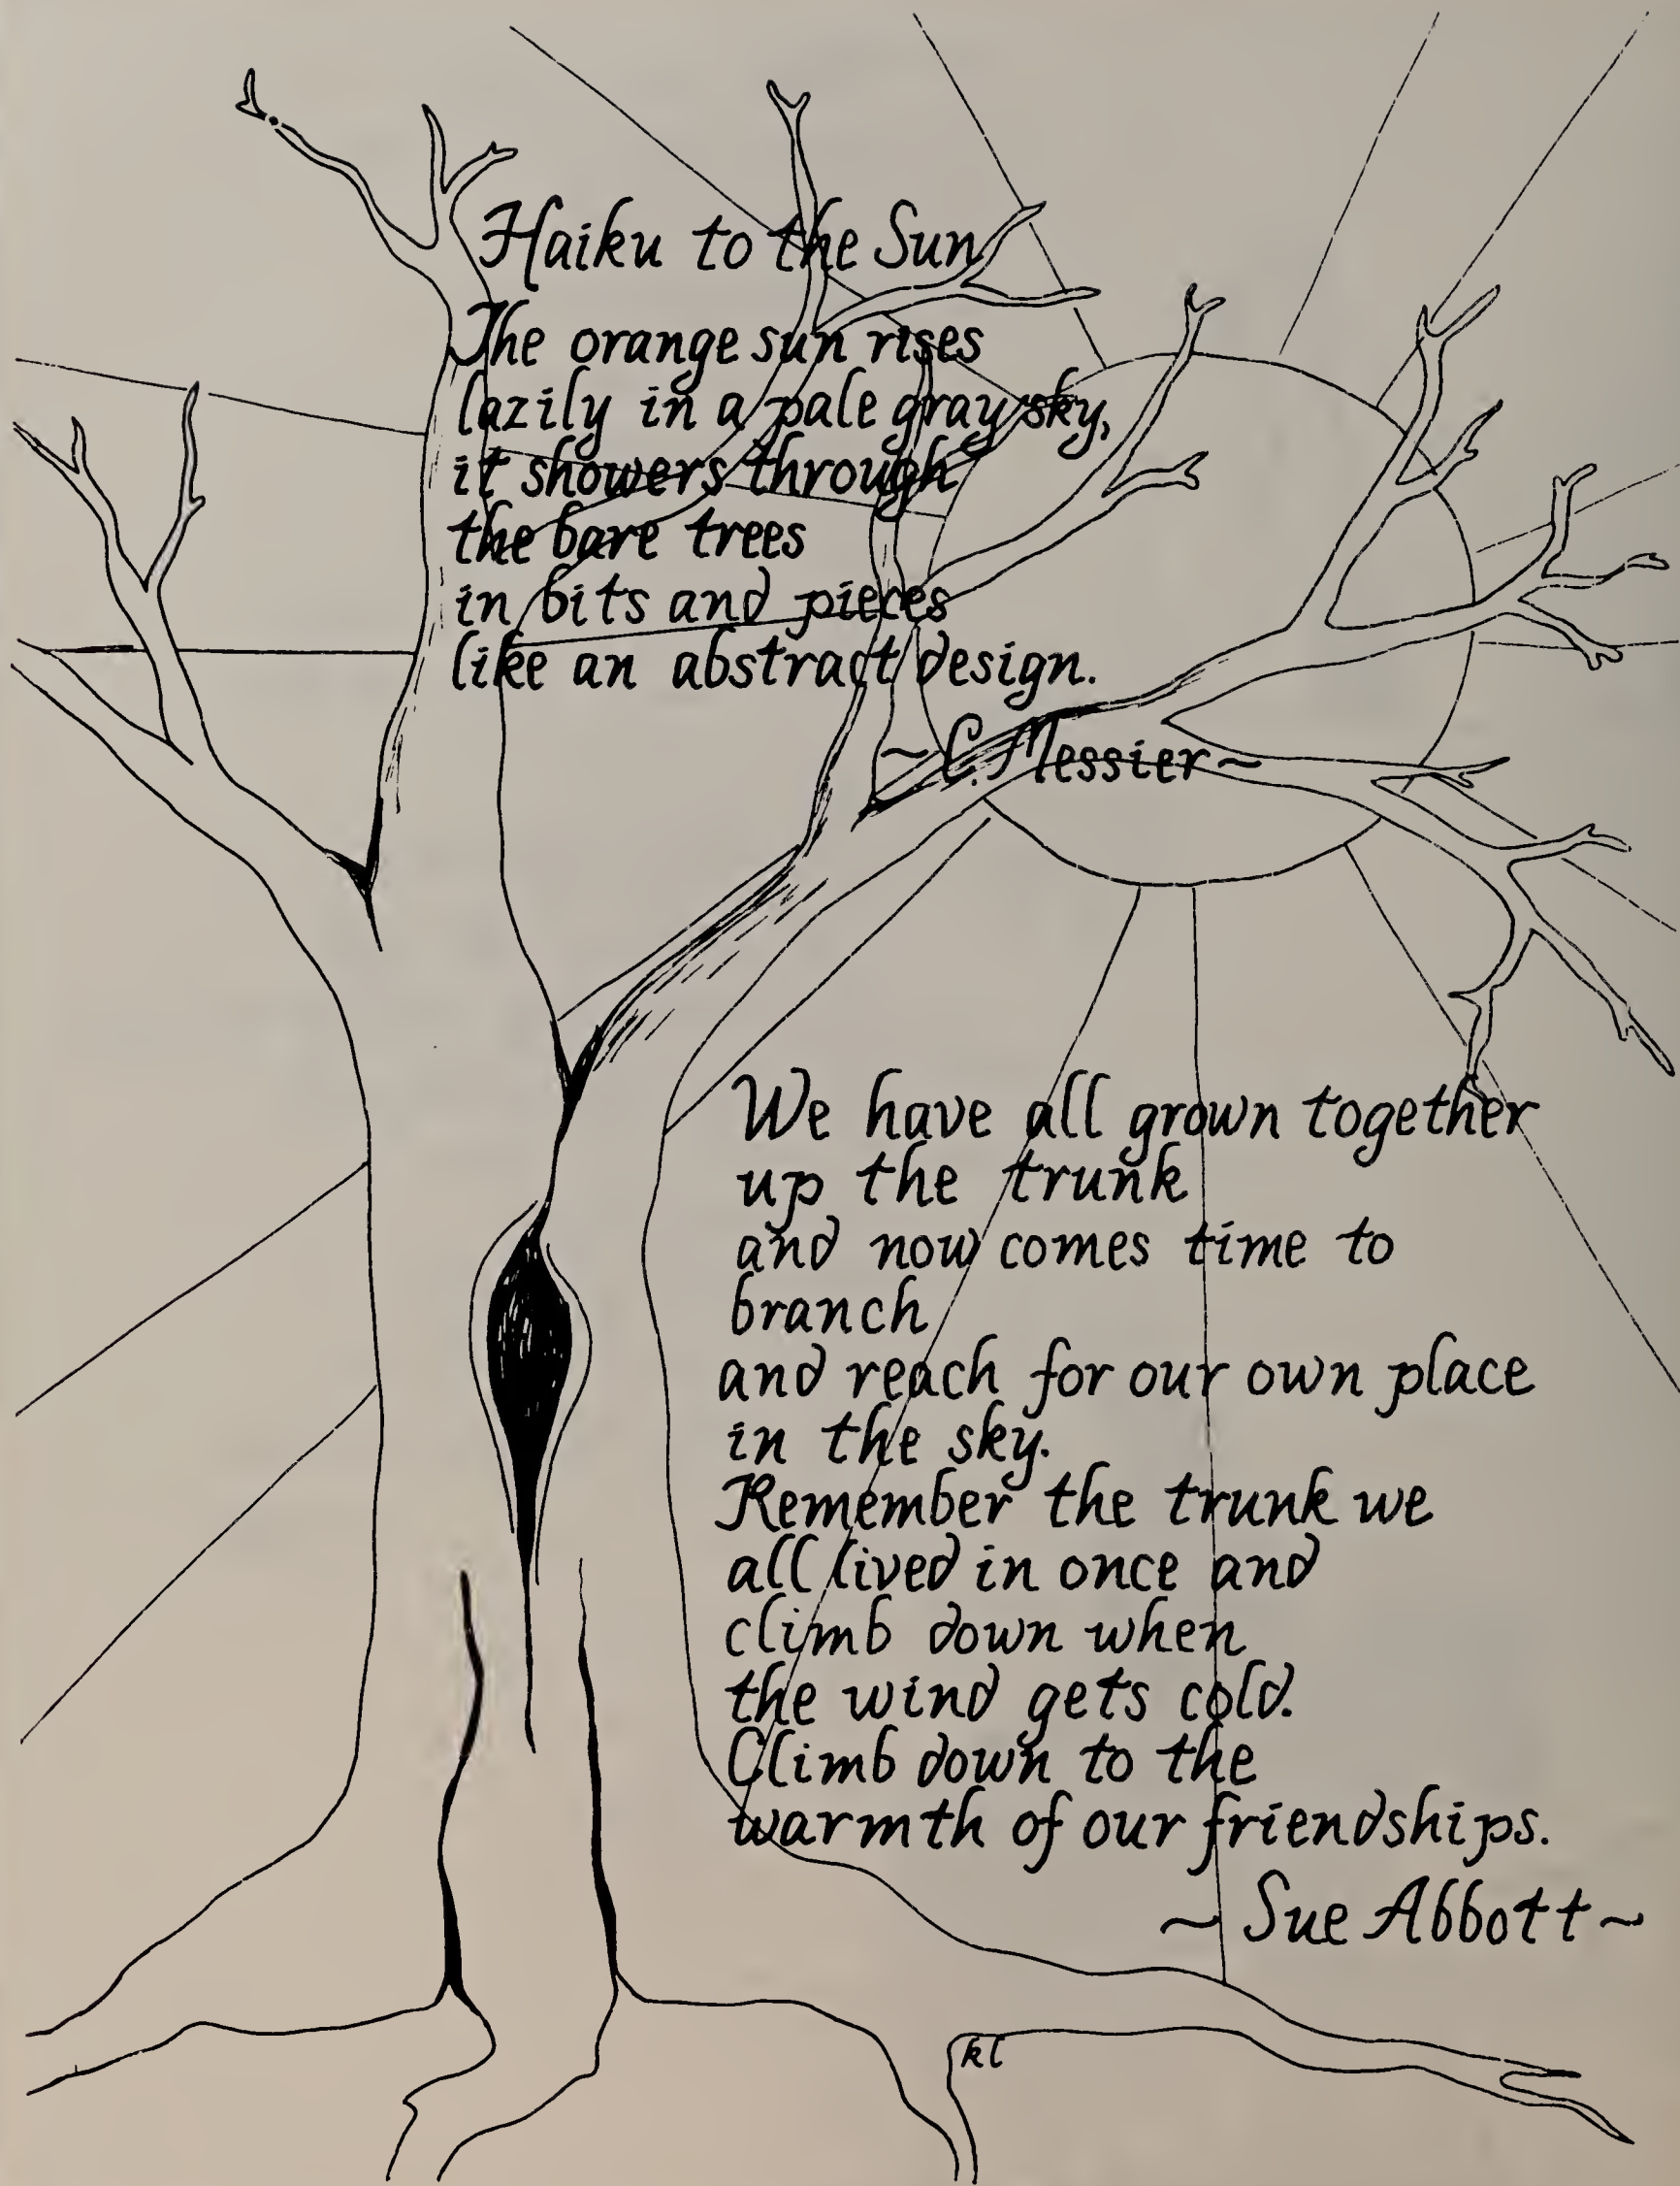
We remember they were once our friends
But it only lasted a short while.

Try to remember,
They never will return
Live on what they left us,
From that you will grow and learn.

Lisa Hobka



Haiku to the Sun

The orange sun rises
lazily in a pale gray sky, it showers through the bare trees
in bits and pieces
like an abstract design.

~ C. Messier ~

We have all grown together up the trunk and now comes time to branch and reach for our own place in the sky.
Remember the trunk we all lived in once and climb down when the wind gets cold.
Climb down to the warmth of our friendships.

by

Veaudry

Here I am sitting at a square desk in a square room with a square floor covered with square tiles trying to copy
your unemotional words and I glance out
the square window and watch the square trucks bounce by and wonder if could I be a square myself? I turn away and look at my square paper and try to express myself with a round pencil.

Renaissance

It's now a month since I've been there,
It seems longer though;
Changes seem to slowly paint themselves over me
But they come quietly, so it doesn't matter.
Yesterday the leaves fell off the trees
The end has come whispering her solitude and forebode.

Time is the revelation
Faith is the key to the revelation
Revelation is the key to the end.

It's now been a month since I've remembered
It seems much shorter.
Changes have been painted and talked up
in memory's museum,
To sit on shadowy walls
Waiting for memories to march through Peering at the renaissance of time gone by.

H. Howard

Growing Up

It ain't easy, ya know, when you got so many people trying to shape you,
mold you, and make you and you just want to furl your sails,
and let the current take you.
It ain't easy
when they push you down
and step on you,
cut your wings
and tether you.
They say they could never understand you but who said they were expected to?
It ain't easy.
I keep looking ahead
hoping they'll open the cage and let me fly,
but it ain't gonna be that easy.

C. Messier

Fine Times There's such excellent people around-
Such good friends.
We pass around a cup brimming
With love and get high on our fine times.

The Last Time Around

The last time around,
I'll walk these long halls
that get shorter every year,
and I'll handle problems
that also seem to shrink,
while I keep growing.
Reaching for the sky
I'll say my last goodbye.

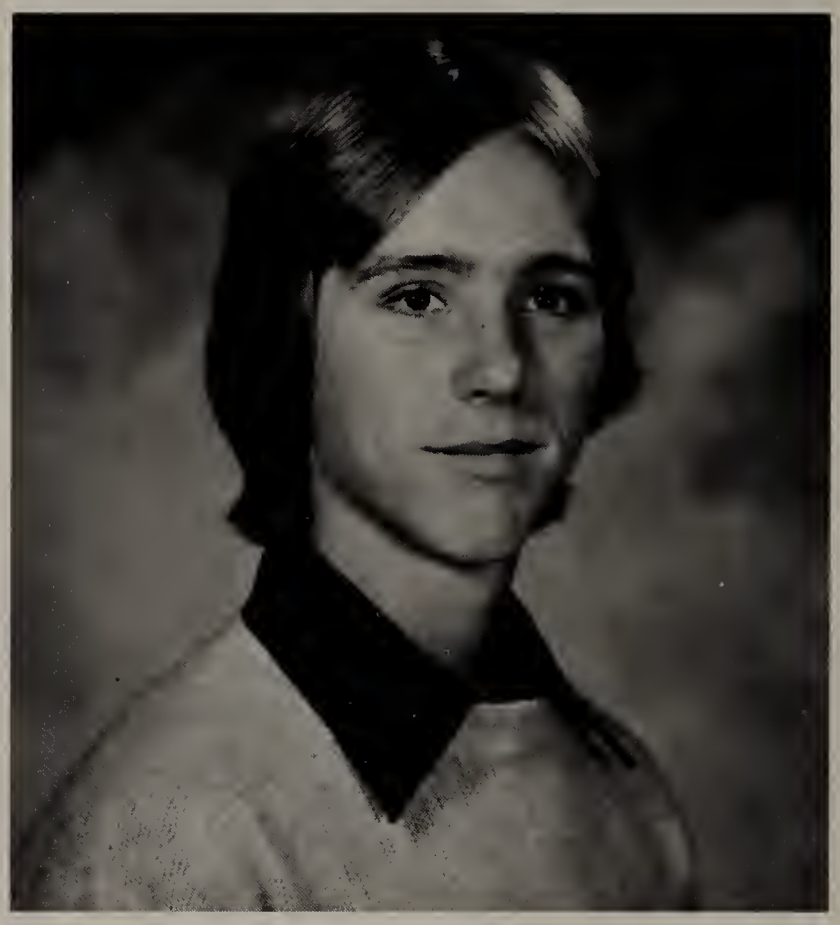
IN MEMORIAM



David J. Corcoran

To Dave he was the greatest
I loved him and still do
No one at all could take his place
To share good times Teaching one another right from wrong
He taught me how to be a young lady
How to kiss and act around others
And all he said was . . .
To be yourself
That's exactly how he was
I always admired him
He had a good head on his shoulders
Always happy, cheerful
For one thing you can never be in a bad mood around him He'd make you laugh and cry at the same time
Laugh at the times we had
And to cry that he's gone.

Beth Corcoran

So full of life and joy,
Dave always had a smile on his face.
He loved the outdoors and used to tell me
About his canoe weekends and his traveling Cross country to California. Always a friend
In need; willing to sit for hours at a time
Just listening at what you had to say or give
A lending shoulder when you needed advice or Cheering up. Always there when you needed him —
Yet never asking anything in return — except For happiness — happiness around everyone.
God gave this kindness to Dave and he spread It among his friends. In memory of you Dave — You're the kind of friend everyone wishes they had.
I'll never forget the good times —
In memory of you.
